Poetry.

Tired Mothers.

BY MRS. ALBERT SMITH.

A little elbow leans upon your knee
Your tired knee, that has so much to bear;
A child's dear eyes are looking lovingly
From underneath a thatch of tangled hair,
Perhaps you do not heed the velvet touch
Of warm, moist fingers, folding yours so tight;—
You do not prize this blessing overmuch,
You are almost too tired to pray to-night.

But it is blessedness! A year ago
I did not see it as I do to-day,—
We are so dull and thankless; and too slow
To catch the sunshine till it slips away,
And now it seems surpassing strange to me,
That, while I wore the badge of motherhood,
I did not kiss more oft, and tenderly,
The little child that brought me only good.

And if, some night when you sit down to rest,
You miss this elbow from your tired knee;
This restless, curling head from off your breast,
This lisping tongue that chatters constantly;
If from your own the dimpled hands had slipped
And ne'er would nestle in your palm again;
If the white feet into their grave had tripped,
I could not blame you for your heart-ache then!

I wonder so that mothers ever fret,
At little children clinging to their gown;
Or that the footprints, when the days are wet,
Are ever black enough to make them frown,
If I could find a little muddy boot,
Or cap, or jacket, on my chamber floor;
If I could kiss a rosy, restless foot,
And hear its patter in my home once more;

If I could mend a broken cart to-day,
To-morrow make a kite, to reach the sky—
There is no woman in God's world could say
She was more blissfully content than I,
But ah! the dainty pillow next my own
Is never rumpled by a shining head:—
My singing birdling from its nest is flown;
The little boy I used to kiss is dead!

Selected Story.

The Umbrella Girl.

BY L. MARIA CHILD.

A young girl, the only daughter of a poor widow, removed from the country to Philadelphia to earn her living by covering umbrellas. She was very handsome, with glossy black hair, large beaming eyes, and "lips like wet coral." She was just at that susceptible age when youth is ripening into womanhood—when the soul begins to be pervaded by "that restless principle which impels poor humans to seek perfection in union.

At a hotel near the store for which she worked, an English traveler, called Lord Henry Stuart, had taken lodgings. He was a strikingly handsome man, and of princely carriage. As this distinguished stranger passed to and from the hotel, he encountered the umbrella girl, and he was attracted by her uncommon beauty. He easily traced her to the store, where he soon after went to purchase an umbrella. This was followed up by presents of flowers, chats by the wayside, and invitations to walk or ride, all of which was gratefully accepted by the unsuspecting rustic; for she was as ignorant of the dangers of a city as were the squirrels of her native fields. He was merely playing a game for temporary excitement. She, with a head full of romance, and a heart melting under the influence of love, was unconciously endangering the happiness of her whole life.

Lord Henry invited her to visit the public gardens on the Fourth of July. In the simplicity of her heart she believed all his flattering professions, and considered herself his bride elect; she therefore accepted the invitation with innocent frankness. But she had no dress fit to wear on such a public occasion with a gentleman of such high rank, whom she really supposed to be her destined husband. While these thoughts revolved in her mind, her eye was unfortunately attracted by a beautiful piece of silk belonging to her employer. Could she take it, without being seen, and pay for it secretly when she had earned money enough? The temptation conquered her in a moment of weakness. She concealed the silk, and conveyed it to her lodgings. It was the first thing she had ever stolen, and her remorse was painful. She would have carried it back, but she dreaded discovery. She was not sure that her repentance would be met in a spirit of forgiveness.

On the eventful Fourth of July she came out in her dress. Lord Henry complimented her upon her elegant appearance, but she was not happy. On their way to the gardens, he talked to her in a manner she did not comprehend. Perceiving this he spoke more explicitly. The guileless young creature stopped, looked in his face with a mournful reproach, and burst into tears. The nobleman took her hand kindly, and said, "My dear, are you an innocent girl?"

"I am, I am!" she exclaimed, with convulsive sobs. "Oh! what have I done, or said, that you should ask me such a strange question?"

The evident sincerity of her words stirred the deep fountains of his better nature. "If you are innocent," said he, "God forbid that I should make you otherwise. But you accepted my invitations and presents so readily, that I supposed you understood me."

"What could I understand," said she, "except that you intended, in good faith, to make me your wife?

Though reared amid the proudest distinctions of rank, he felt no inclination to smile. He blushed and was silent. The heartless conventionalities of the world stood rebuked in the presence of affectionate simplicity. He conveyed her to her humble home, and bade her farewell with a thankful consciousness that he had done no irretrievable injury to her future prospects. The remembrance of her would be to him as the recollection of last year's butterflies. With her, the wound was deep. In the solitude of her chamber she wept in bitterness of heart over her ruined air-castles. And that dress, which she had stolen to make an appearance befitting a bride! Oh! what if she should be discovered? Would not the heart of her poor widowed mother break if she should ever know that her child was a thief?

Alas! her wretched foreboding proved too true. The silk was traced to her; she was arrested on her way to the store, and dragged to prison. There she refused all nourishment and wept incessantly. On the fourth day, the keeper called on Isaac T. Hopper, and informed him that there was a young girl in prison who appeared to be utterly friendless, and determined to die by starvation. The kind-hearted Friend immediately went to her assistance. He found her lying on the floor of her cell, with her face burried in her hands, sobbing as if her heart would break. He tried to comfort her but could obtain no answer.

"Leave us alone," said he to the keeper. "Perhaps she will speak to me, if there is no one to hear." When they were left alone together, he put back the hair from her temples, laid his hand kindly on her beautiful head, and said in soothing tones: "My child, consider me as thy father. Tell me all thou hast done. If thou hast taken this silk let me know all about it. I would do for thee as I would for my own daughter, and I doubt not that I can help thee out of this difficulty."

After a long time spent in affectionate entreaty, she leaned her young head gently on his friendly shoulder, and sobbed out: "Oh! I wish I was dead! What will my poor mother say when she knows of my disgrace?"

"Perhaps we can manage that she never shall know it," replied he. Allurring her by this hope, he gradually obtained from her the whole story of her acquaintance with the nobleman. He bade her be comforted, and take nourishment, for he would see that the silk was paid for, and the prosecution withdrawn. He went immediately to her employer and told him the story.

"This is the girl's first offence. She is the only child of a poor widow. Give her a chance to retrieve this one false step, and she may be restored to society, a useful, honored woman. I will see that thou art paid for the silk."

The man agreed to withdraw the prosecution, and said he would have dealt otherwise by the girl if he had known all the circumstances.

"Thou shouldest have inquired into the merits of the case," replied friend Hopper. "By this kind of thoughtlessness many a young person is driven into the downward path, who might easily have been saved."

The kind-hearted man next proceeded to the hotel, and, with Quaker simplicity of speech, inquired for Henry Stuart. The servant said his lordship had not yet risen. "Tell him my business is of importance," said Friend Hopper. The servant soon returned and conducted him to the chamber. The nobleman appeared surprised that a stranger, in a plain Quaker costume, should thus intrude upon his luxurious privacy. When he heard his errand he blushed deeply, and frankly admitted the truth of the girls statement. His benevolent visitor took the opportunity to "bear testimony" against the selfishness and sin of profligacy. He did it in such a kind and fatherly manner that the young man's heart was touched. He excused himself by saying that he would not have tampered with the girl if he had known her to be virtuous. "I have done many wrong things," said he, "but God! knows no betrayal of confiding innocence weighs on my conscience. I have always considered it the basest act of which man iscapable. The imprisonment of the poor girl, and the forlorn situation in which she had been found, distressed him greatly. When friend Hopper represented that the silk had been stolen for his sake, that the girl had thereby lost profitable employment, and was obliged to return to her distant home to avoid the danger of exposure, he took out a fifty-dollar note and offered to pay her expenses.

"Nay," said Isaac, "thou art a very rich man, I presume. I see in thy hand a large roll of such notes. She is the daughter of a poor widow, and thou hast been the means of doing her great injury. Give me another."

Lord Henry handed him another fifty-dollar note, and smiled as he said: "You understand your business well. But you have acted nobly, and I reverence you for it. If you ever visit England, come to see me. I will give you a cordial welcome, and treat you like a nobleman."

"Farewell, friend," replied the Quaker, "though much to blame in this affair, thou, too, hast behaved nobly. Mayst thou be blest in domestic life, and trifle no more with the feelings of poor girls; not even with those who have been betrayed and deserted."

When the girl was arrested she had sufficient presence of mind to assume a false name, and by that means her true name had been kept out of the newspapers. "I did this," said she, "for my poor mother's sake." With the money given by Lord Stuart, the silk was paid for, and she was sent home to her mother well-provided with clothing. Her name and place of residence forever remained a secreet in the breast of her benefacter.

Years after these events transpired, a lady called at Friend Hopper's house, and asked to see him. When he entered the room he found a hansomely-dressed young matron, with a blooming boy of 5 or 6 years old. She rose quickly him, and her voice choked as she said, "Friend Hopper, do you know me?" He replied that he did not. She fixed her tearful eyes upon him and said: "You once helped me when in great distress." But the good missionary had helped too many in distrsss to be able to recollect her without more precise information. With a tremulous voice she bade her son go into the next room for a few moments; then, dropping on her knees, she hid her face in his lap and sobbed out:

"I am the girl who stole the silk. Oh! where should I now be if it had not been for you?"

When her emotion was somewhat calmed, she told him that she had married a highly respectable man, a native of his own State. Being on a visit to Friend Hopper's vicinity, she had again and again passed his dwelling, looking wistfully at the windows to catch a sight of him, but when she attempted to enter, her courage failed.

"Yes, I must return home to-morrow," said she, "and I could not go away without once more seeing and thanking him who saved me from ruin." She recalled her little boy, and said to him: "Look at that gentleman, and remember him well, for he was the best friend your mother ever had." With an earnest invitation to visit her happy home, and a fervent "God bless you!" she bade her benefactor farewell.

Swopping for a Testament.

"Say, Mister, will you swop a Testament for some sugar?" said a little lad to a missionary of the Sunday School Union. "I ain't got no money, but here's some cakes of maple sugar. It's all I've got to give. They are mighty nice. Will you swop, sir? Mother wants the book, and I'd like awful well to get it for her."

The swop was made, and turned to so good an account, by the interest which the story excited, that 200 little ones in those backwoods were each made richer by the possession of a copy of that same book. Even a boy's two cakes of maple sugar are not to be despised.

Forty Miles on Horseback in Two Hours.

The announcement that Chan Reticker, better known as the "California Boy," whose wonderful performances in the saddle have won for him a wide celebrity, would ride fifty miles in three hours, drew quite a fair number of ladies and gentlemen to the Hamtramck race course Saturday afternoon.

To enable the young horseman to execute his arduous undertaking, a dozen fleet California ponies were in waiting near the grand stand, thus enabling the rider to change horses at the end of each mile. Mr. Reticker has upward of thirty of these ponies, all selected for their speed and bottom, but it was not necessary to bring them all into requisition for this race. Four experienced grooms, who also travel with the horseman, were in attendance. At precisely 2:51 o'clock "Chan" stepped briskly from his dressing-room in the judges' stand and signaled for the first horse to be brought up. Reticker is a well-built, active young fellow, and was dressed in a jock costume, consisting of blue shirt with wide rolling collar and white cuffs, white corduroy knee-breches, white stockings, stout riding shoes, and a red, white and blue cap. He is about twenty-two years of age, and for the last ten years has almost literally lived in the saddle. He was for a long time in the employ of Adams Express Company on the Plains, and when but twelve years of age rode a pony express from St. Joseph to Sacramento.

The wiry little pony was brought up, pawing and prancing, and so eager for a start that it seemed a rather difficult undertaking for the rider to mount. With one bound, however, he was in the Mexican saddle, and, the pony being released, made a tremendous spring and was off like a rock. The little sorrel went flying down the backstretch and past the half-mile post in 1:05, when his rider evidently checked his speed, and he came in under a steady pull in 2:26. As Reticker reached the stand he leaped from his pony, sprang into the saddle of the fresh horse which the grooms brought out, and was off again before the spectators got through applauding. On this and the succeding circuits of the track he took his time, coming in 2:24 and 2:12. Reticker then took a swallow of ice-water, and, mounting his horse, started off at a pace which indicated fast time. He came in in 2:12. Mile after mile was accomplished by the dashing rider, who exhibited no signs of fatigue and rode as if he rather enjoyed it. At the conclusion of the sixteenth mile Reticker mounted an ugly, vicious sorrel pony, who admirably answered to the description of Mark Twain's celebrated bucking horses. Several minutes were lost in endeavoring to induce the animal to do anything except stand on his hind legs, when he suddenly manifested a strong disposition to lie down, and "the Boy" was compelled to dismount and take another steed. On the seventeenth turn of the track he made up for lost time, coming home in 2:07, the fastest time of the race. The first twenty miles were made in fifty-five minutes, and the twenty-five miles in one hour and nine minutes. Reticker then retired to his dressing-room and rested for nearly ten minutes, when he remounted and continued his ride. It was then plainly to be seen that he would accomplish his feat within the allotted time and have considerable time to spare, so it was decided not to prolong the race beyond the fortieth mile. This was accomplished in 2:30 making the entire distance, including stoppages and changes, in on hour and fifty-six minutes. As this left him one hour and four minutes in which to ride the remaining ten miles, the spectators announced themselves as satisfied, and the race was ended.

A Touching Incident.

An old Democrat a delegate from one of the counties in this State, was seen leaning against the walls of a building a few minutes after the adjournment of the Baltimore Convention, weeping bitterly. When inter rogated by a kind hearted gentleman, who was passing, as to the cause of his trouble, asking at the same time if he could serve him in any way, the mortified and deeply humiliated old man replied: "No, my good man, you can't do me no good. God knows I wish I was dead; for forty long years I have been votin' the Democratic ticket, and I've made an "affidavy" that I'd stand by the party, and here they're gone and passed orders to vote for Horace Greeley, and I've got to do it or break my affidavy; and that aint all, mister. I've raised nine sons, and they are all livin', and I've spent many and many a night reading Hendricks, and other Democratic speeches to them children—and very lately too—to teach 'em what an everlasting old political thief and lying hypocrite old Greeley was, and now they're all gone back on me and I've got to go home to them boys and tell 'em that their old dad's been a lyin' to them all his life, and that old Horace Greeley is one of the 'Lord's annointed.' And the poor deceived, and almost heart broken old man, bursting into tears again, trembling with emotion, went his way saying: "This is too much to bear; I believe it will surely break my heart, but I'll not have it. I'll go to the Louisville Convention and vote for a straight out nomination."

The Stray Mule.

At a meeting in a frontier Western settlement several present were stoutly opposed to the organization of a Sunday school. Not being able to agree, the meeting was breaking up, when the chairman said he had a very important notice to read to them. Quiet was soon restored to hear this rather novel "religious notice."

"Strayed—A large black mule. He had on a halter when he left and is branded on the left hip with the letter S. Any one returning said mule will be liberally rewarded."

The keen Sunday School Union missionary quickly announced that he also had a very important notice to give out.

"Strayed—A number of boys from their homes, near this place, this Sunday morning. They had guns and fishing poles on their sholders when they left. They are branded, by a holy God, as Sabbath breakers. Any one returning said boys, and placing them in a Sunday school, will be liberally rewarded at the day of judgment."

The tact of that missionary carried the vote in favor of a Sunday school, and those stray boys were duly "returned" to it.

The Party of Many Colors.

Republicanism means one and the same thing in every section of the land. It is not one thing in Maine and another in Texas. Its principles are well known, its policy clearly defined, and whoever supports it knows in advance what it will be if intrusted with power.

The Greeley party has no settled policy, and may truly be called a party of many colors. It means equal rights in Maine, while in West Virginia it means taking from the colored man the right to hold office. In one place it means, or pretends to mean, the observing in good faith of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, while in another it means the practical repudiation of their provisions. Among the loyal men it denies any intention to pay rebel debts and the pensions of rebel soldiers, but among disloyal men it promises to do these very things. With its New England followers it pleads Radicalism, but in the South it denounces it, and claims its support on the grounds that its advent will be the death of the Radical party.

The sore-heads who have deserted the Republican party claim Greeley as a Republican, while the Southern Democrats and their Northern allies claim him as a Democrat, through whose election their party is to be brought into power. The Ku Klux support Mr. Greeley because they believe they can carry on their work of villainy under his administration with more safety to themselves than under General Grant, while the good souls of the North, who have faith in Mr. Greeley, believe his simple presence in the White House will do away with the Ku Klux Klans forever.

The truth is, the party has no policy except to get into power; then it will frame a policy to suit itself. All that Mr. Greeley wants is to be President. Although he knows the loyal sentiment of the nation is against him he is willing to do anything to become the Chief Executive. The power is what he wants; the means used to obtain it is a matter of secondary importance. But the country has no desire to risk its future in the hands of so ambitious a demagogue as Mr. Greeley has shown himself to be. Less than six months ago this very candidates claimed that "a Democratic victory would be a national calamity." As the nominee of that party he has changed his mind, but the nation holds him to his first opinion, and will avert the calamity which Greeley prophesied by the triumphant election of General Grant.

A Good Sign.

The young men of the nation are largely in favor of Grant and Wilson. This is a good sign, for it shows that the future of the Republic will be in safe hands.

Young men growing up among the living issues of the present are free from those prejudices which cause many citizens to cling to a party on account of its old traditions. There are thousands in the land who vote the Greeley ticket for no other reason than because it was nominated at Baltimore. They have been Democrats all their lives, and are willing to swallow anything that is labeled Democratic. They are blind to their country's interest, and go for their party ticket, "right or wrong."

From this blind partnership the young men of the nation are free. They judge the two parties before the people for what they are, not what they have been. They know that the Republican party has done and is doing well for the country. They know that the party that has adop

ANNOUNCEMENT.

As announced in our last issue we are now taking a little recreation on a visit to the West. During our absence the NORTH CAROLINIAN will be under the editorial management of J. H. SHAW Esq. We are satisfied that its interest will not suffer in his hands.

P. JOHN.

Accordingly, we take possession of the sanctum as Editor ad interim, and say to the reader, that we have not been chosen because we know how to "run a paper," or because we know much of anything—but on account of our availability, having a surplus of leisure on hand just now. If the paper is not as interesting as usual—lay it to us; If there are an unusual number of mistakes in the othography—lay it to us; If anything we may choose to say should arouse the animosity of anybody and they should be impressed with the duty of "Thrashing the Editor"—please postpone it until Dr. JOHN's return as we have the rheumatism.

J. H. SHAW,

DEMOCRATIC ARITHMETIC.

The Democratic journals under the able guidance of the New York World have for a number of years indulged in mathematical calculations of "results," after some State election, which for intricacy and impenetrable incomprehensibility would challenge the admiration of the most ardent lover of darkness. Shorn of its fog and cobwebs, and it appears mere senseless twaddle. In fact it amounts to about this: Last year the enemy gave me two black eyes, and a bloody nose. This year I have come off with only one eye blacked and a part of my ear bit off. Now, I can let my hair grow long, which will cover my mutilated ear, and I will present a much better appearance to the public than I did last year. True my opponent came off without a scratch—didn't even "holler," but then you see, as I ain't whipped so bad this year as I was last, therefore, I am not whipped at all, and it naturally follows as a logical conclusion, that the next time I meet this adversary, I shall thrash him out of his boots. Now we admire genius whenever, wherever, and however displayed, and the man or party, that can figure victory out of defeat, is fairly entitled to the warm admiration which we hereby tender. It doesn't hurt us, and they are welcome to all the comfort they can cull out of it. But it reminds us of a story which seems to us to be apropos. A certain celebrated mathematician was one day walking through an almost uninhabited country, and fell into a deep pit. There was no help to be had, and he was unable to climb out. He thought within himself it was a great pity that such a learned man as he should thus die, and he resolved that he would figure himself out by Algebraic process. So he called himself the "unknown quantity" which he represented by "X." The bottom of the pit he called the first, and the top the second "member" of his "equation," and then he just transposed himself. You see how easy it was to get out if you only knew how. But for that mans knowledge of Algebra, his bones might now be lying in that awful pit, and but for the Democratic system of figuring, they might be defeated at each election.

REDUCTION OF THE PUBLIC DEBT.

We have received from Washington an official statement of the public debt on the 1st day of Sept. 1872 and also an exhibit of monthly reductions from which we briefly copy:

Total debt less cash in Treasury $2,177,322,010.55. Decrease of debt during August 1872, $10,736,635,89. Decrease of debt since March 1st, 1872, 48,491,477,43. Decrerse of debt from March 1st, 1869 to September 1st, 1872, 348,141, 239,46.

We'll make a desperate effort to survive four years more of GRANT.

THE POLITICAL MUDDLE.

There is a character in Dickens "Hard Times"—a plain simple minded man with a heart full of warm and honest impulses, to whom life was always an impenetrable mistery, simply because he thought all men as honest at heart as himself, and judged mankind by his own pure standard of manhood. At each fresh outcropping of human weakness in those on whom he had looked as paterns of honor and virtue, poor old "Stephen" would scratch his puzzled head and exclaim "'Tis a'a muddle, 'Tis a'a muddle." But had honest old Stephen been a citizen of the United States, coming to the years of understanding when the the anti-slavery movement was in its vigor, and had he at that time arrayed himself on the side of downtrodden humanity, with HORACE GREELEY as his model and leader. Had he followed in the footsteps of that once illustrious man through the dark days of the slavery agitation which resulted in the formation of the Republican party—made slavery a direct issue, and finally culminated in secession and rebellion, Had his political text work been the New York Tribune, and had he read during all these years his leaders bitter denunciations of Democrats both as politicians and men, and had he lived to see that same Republican leader desert the ranks of his party: turn his back on life long friends and principles, and go over to the enemy, lured by the prospect of political distinction and personal agrandisement. Had he seen his chosen model arrayed in the uniform of his old enemy, and leading the Democratic army on to battle against his old comrades, and, had he no better criterion by which to judge these acts than his own simple honesty of propose, his brain would indeed be muddled by the Seemingly impenetrable mistery, and he might have exclaimed in language a little different fram one of old—now let thy servant depart in peace for mine eyes have seen the end of all human weakness and vanity.

There are a few "Stephens" in the world, but not many. The world gets wiser, and we judge men by a more rational standard than did he. The masses are not deceived by HORACE GREELEY. We admired and loved him as a friend and comrade fighting by our side for the right, but we dispise him as an enemy and traitor fighting in the ranks of our enemies against us. A federal soldier was once asked by the "fallen" BENEDICT ARNOLD what he thought would be his fate should he fall into the hands of the American army, and the soldier replied, "We would cut off your leg, which was wounded while honorably fighting for your country, and burry it with the honors of war, and then we would hang the rest of your body." And so in principle, say the whilom friends of the once Republican GREELEY. We will burry in our hearts with all the "honors of war," the principles of manhood and justice which he once advocated, but his recent treacherous acts we will hang up to virtuous execration. A few may be mislead because principle is hidden by the man, but the masses will remain undeceived, and the country will prosper.

SKIRMISHES ON VARIOUS PARTS OF THE BATTLEFIELD.

The great battle in November will be fought simultaneously in all the States, but it so happens that many States have their own elections previous to the federal contest, and these, if not true indices to the grand result, are yet looked upon as potent instruments by which to foretell that result. The result of a State election, at such a time as this, exerts a powerful influence in favor of, or against a party, and as great efforts are made to achieve a victory at the State election, as in the succeeding presidential campaign. Especially is this true of the Hybrid organization styled the Democratic Liberal Republican party. This incongruous mass of discordant elements, caged together for a while like "Barnum's Happy Family," fed up to satiety on promises of changes and reforms, and kept for a time from devouring each other, by the hope of someting more palatable, and nourishing, have gone into this campaign with all the vigor that the fellow went into oil boring in Pennsylvania. He erected his derriek and painted on it for a matter "Oil. H—ll or, China." The final history of that man is, that he failed to "strike" even "brine," and consequently busted, In this he is a correct prototype of this modern political "what-is-it?" The campaign opened in our State, and almost superhuman efforts were put forth by the mongrel party, with its democratic head and republican tail, but they were signally defeated. Then came Vermont, and over into that State plunged every sore-headed political aspirant, and their wallowing in the mire of bitter denunciations, vile vituperation, and wholesale lies, was ludicrous to behold. GRANT stood looking on smoking his cigar as complacently as he had before on a score of battle fields of real danger, and when the smoke cleared away, it showed the Republican army triumphant, and the mongrel enemy broke in two in the middle, with its head running one way, and its tail the other. But it was spliced some where, and started over into Maine, and it fought, it did. The result of that fight is that it will have to go up for repairs until the Pensylvania election comes off, when this little scrap of political history will repeat itself. We would ask our political adversaries if they have heard from Maine, but that question under the circumstances would be the refinement of cruelty.

A PROBLEM IN LOGICS WORKED OUT.

GREELEY is a talker—GRANT is silent. Speech is silver—Silence is golden. Gold is a more precious metal than silver (Deduction) Hence GRANT is better than GREELEY.

The Greeley and Brown Club at Goldsboro is in full blast.—Exchange.

We thought it was getting pretty hot for them. Its so all over the country. Let them sizzle.

EDITORIAL TALK WITH THE READER.

What a cold world this sometimes seems to be. How selfish our fellow beings appear to us. How formal even the sympathy extended to us in our hours of darkness and distress. How little comfort do we derive from the tears of those who weep us. In business, we elbow our way through the crowd which surges on toward to Eldorado of hope and anticipation, each, with his eye on the Bow of promise in the sky, at whose foot is hidden the coveted pot of gold, none looking at, or caring for his fellow pilgrim. One, stumbles and falls by the way, but no one stoops to pick him up, the hurrying mass behind crowd on, trampling him into the dust, or, ruthlessly kicking him to one side, the ranks close up and press on toward the goal of their disappointment.

We start in the race for honor and renown, and attempt to scale the slippery steep on whose summit is placed a crown, the possession of which, seems the acme of human ambition. We find a long line of struggling humanity before us, and looking behind us, we see a dense mass all pressing on, their eyes fixed on the glittering crown alone. Their looks are hard. Fierce determination is written in their countenances. Each regards his neighbor as only an obstacle in the way of his success, and none expect, and none receive aid or encouragement. Thus pushing and pulling, slipping and climbing, they toil up the jagged ascent, while moons wax and wane, and seasons come and go, braving the chilling frosts of winter, and sweltering through the torrid heat of summer, till age dims the eye and palsys the limbs, and, "casting one longing lingering look" on the coveted prize, they roll down to the foot of the plane, the space they occupied is quickly filled, and they lie unmourned and forgotten. They cherished no friendship in life, no one cherishes their memory in death. A few reach the giddy height only to find that the object of their toil is like the "Apples of Sodom," but the many fall bruised and bleeding by the way. We enter the sacred precincts of the church and here we confidently expect that "all is gold that glitters," but again are we doomed to disappointment. We find the same grasping avarice, the same cold unfriendliness, the same suspicions jealousy that we met with in the "world," meaner and more dispicable because cloaked under the garb of religion, and we have said in the bitterness of our hearts, "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity." But, reader, the world is not so bad if we ourselves are right. We each have within our hearts an empire over which we rule as Monarch supreme. No usurper can trespass upon our domain, unles we open the gates and give him entrance. Banish then from your hearts kingdom all such disturbers of the peace as Undue ambition for worldly honor. Grasping avarice, and Hypocrisy. Be just to yourself and generous to your fellow man. Do right. Then shall peace be withinyour walls andprosperity within your palaces.

FARMING INTERESTS.

In these days of political excitement, let us not forget our farms and farming interests. People travel on diverging roads in politics, but in agriculture—however devious may be the paths, they are all intended to converge to one common center of interest. It is hard to find two persons who think just alike on any subject, consequently, it is not at all strange that we should have a diversified system of farming. There is a right way, and a wrong way to do everything, and the question in regard to farming is, which is the right way? No one man may know everything in regard to it, but we each, perhaps, know a little, and if we can collect these little scraps of information together, the aggregate knowledge would be of vast importance to the farmer. This information can be bought to the notice of our agricultural community by correspondence with our local papers. Let some of our intelligent, practical farmers in Pasquotank, and adjoining Counties, take up and discuss the cultivation of the crops generally raised in our districts or, extend it a little wider, by discussing general farming. Make the communications short and to the point. We will soon have our Agricultural Society in running order, and that will bring farmers together, and stimulate a healthy competition in farm products &c. In the mean time, get ready for the Fair in November next. Put by the biggest fruit, and the finest grain, to take to the fair. Feed up, and groom your horses and other cattle, and enter them for competition, and, let us say to the farmer's wife, and daughter, you have here a field for the display of articles in your department of home industry. A list of premiums will soon be published, and we ask of each of you to pick from that list one or more for which you will compete, and let us make our fair a grand success. Our agricultural interests are the chief source of our wealth. Let them not suffer. We expect our town ladies will interest themselves more particularly with the Fine Art department, but there is room enough for all who may interest themselves, in any of the departments. We propose to prepare one or more articles on this question of farming, and if any one has different views from us on the subject we would like to hear about it.

And now the New York Tribune howleth, because "JOHN POOL," as it alleges, franked a package of the New York Times, in a bundle of Tribunes, and it calls on the Post Master General to bring the perpetrator of this "goak" to justice. We hope the P. M. G. will at once attend to this, for "justice lies bleeding"—at the nose just now. We expect the proprietors of the Times will at once bring an action for damages against our Senator for defamation of character, in compelling their journal to sleep inside such dirty sheets. Never mind, wash the papers well in prussic acid, that's good for lies. We hope, however, Senator POOL won't do so any more. There was One who could associate with "Publicans and Sinners" without becoming contaminated, but that was because He was Divine. Newspapers have all the weakness and frailty of human beings. Don't run the risk.

SOLDIER AND SAILOR'S CONVENTION AT PITTSBURG, PA.

50,000 VETERANS IN LINE.

IMMENSE ENTHUSIASM.

Gen'l John A. Logan, of Illinoise Permanent Chairman.

THEY ALL STAND BY THEIR OLD CHIEF.

A REPUBLICAN "STRAW" AS BIG AS A SAWLOG.

While we write, the largest concourse of soldiers and sailors, ever called together without military command, have assembled in the valied city of iron and smoke. Old comrades have come from the "Orient" and "Occident," to "clasp hands" in peace, and to renew their vows of fidelity to the Old Flag and Republican principle. These 50,000 are the representative of the great living, breathing mass, who elevate principle above party, and hold steadfast to their faith. Nearly 800 ex-rebel officers and soldiers send their greeting, and thereby testify to their desire for peace and harmony. That's the way to "clasp hands over the bloody chasm." Let's have some more of it. Seest thou anything ominous in all this HORACE?

THE PROSPECT IN PENNSYLVANIA

Pensylvania has never lost her electorial vote, and this fact has given currency to the saying. "As Pensylvania goes, so goes the Union!" Notwithstanding the dissension in the Republican party in that State, we believe she will be true to herself and her old time principles. A good man and gallant Soldier heads the Republican State ticket, while the Democrats hoist at their masthead the name of one, whose public record is the just subject of execration. Ex-Rebels have repeatedly said to us in private conversations,—"we do not blame you for your devotion to the Union during the days of Rebellion, nor do we blame you for fighting against us. You was a Northern man and your plan was in the Northern Army. If you had come down and fought with us we would have despised you." Now what worse would it have been to fight for the South in the ranks of their armies, than to work and labor for the South in the Halls of Congress. This, BUCKALEW, the democratic candidate for Governor, did, and therefore is entitled to the contempt of Southerners, and if of Southerners how much more of Northerners. The people do not easily forget. Pennsylvania will roll up a large Republican majority and elect her State ticket. Nor will she lose her electorial vote in 1872.

Beware Charles—beware the ides of October.

New Books, Periodicals, &c.

SCRIBNER'S FOR OCTOBER.—Scribner's Monthly for October is a remarkable number for the variety of its articles and the profuseness of its illustrations. It opens with a pretty little poem by Mrs. Bradley, with a graceful illustration by Miss. Hallock; this is followed by a ballad by Col. Hay, entitled "Ernst of Edelsheim." Then come some admirable illustrations of Tobacco Culture in the South, with accompanying descriptive article, and another lively illustrated paper on Paris by Edward King. Mr. Tuckerman, formerly Minister to Greece, furnishes a very entertaining sketch of Modern Athens, with a view of the city from a late photograph, Another illustrated article is Mr. Cooke's account of a day's hunting on the Praires. There is a very suggestive essay by Dr. T. M. Coan, of The Independent, under the title of "Broad Views;" and the shorter articles are all readable—"Loitering about a French Chateau," by Albert Rhodef: "A Visit to the Grange," by Kate Hilliard: "Mr. Beecher as a Social Force," by A. McElroy Wylie; "A Village Ball in the Harz," by G. Haven Putnam; and "Letter to a Young Journalist." A long and interesting installment of Mrs. Oliphant's "At His Gates" is given; there is a clever story of "My School at Fern City," by Miss Kate Putnam Osgood; A charming sketch, "The Queen of the Bees," from the French of "Erckmann-Chatrian;" with additional poems by Miss Bushell and Charlotte F. Bates.

In "Topics of the Time" Dr. Holland discusses "The New York Woman," "The Art of Speaking and Writing," and "Sectarian Culture and What Comes of it." The old Cabinet deals with "A Dangerous Question," "Limitations," "Beauty and the Beast," "My Colored Washerwoman," etc. Nature and Science, Home and Society, and Culture and Progress, are full as usual, and the number closes with some Society verses (Etchings), by Mr. Baker, with more of Miss Ledyard's characteristic designs.

The new volume of Scribner will contain some features of remarkable interest. Dr. Holland's new serial, "Arthur Bonnicastle," will commence with the first number (November), and will continue through the year. It will be beautifully illustrated by Miss Hallock. Bret Harte will have a story runing through two numbers; there will be some capital stories by Saxe Holm, Noah Brooks, Fannie E. Hodgson, and others of our best story-writers: Mr. R. H. Stoddard, the poet, will furnish a delightful series of papers about authors; Mr. Clarence Cooke promises a series of practical essays on Furniture and the Decoration of American Homes, and there will be a series of portraits of some of the Yonger American Authors.

THE YOUNG FOLKS, RURAL is a novelty among publications for Young People, entirely different from any other in style and character. Cash prizes are given for best "compositions." Write for a speciment number and particulars, which will be sent free. Terms, $1.50 per year—$1.00 in clubs of four and more, and every subscriber receives a pair of beautiful chromos as a gift. Splended premiums to those who form clubs. Address H. N. F. LEWIS, Publishers, Chicago.

Correspondence.

A. P. Cone Esq.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

The Gentleman whose name heads this article, paid a visit to Elizabeth City in the Month of August last. Whilst he was here, the weather was very hot and on his return to Wellsboro, the sudden change of climate produced a shock upon his system, from which he never rallied. There have been no malarial diseases here this season, and it is a matter of profound regret to our citizens, that he did not remain here until the cold weather came on.

Mr. Cone paid two visits to this section of the State. His quiet, unobtrusive manners, his gentlemanly deportment and the interest which he manifested in building up our waste places, endeared him to all classes of society. In copartnership with our esteemed townsman Wm. H. Smith, he erected a very fine hotel here, which is an ornament to the city, and which will be an enduring monument to his memory. These gentlemen had in contemplation other enterprises, which, if the life of Mr. Cone had been spared, whould have made him the greatest benefactor to Eastern North Carolina.

His death cast a shade of sorrow over this community almost as deep as that which darkened the city of his residence when the sad news was announced. I have never known a man, so much a stranger, to acquire such a hold upon the affections of this people. Genuine and unfeigned sorrow was depicted upon every countenance and the expression, a great calamity has befallen us in the death of Mr. Cone, fell from the lips of hundreds of our best citizens.

Mrs. Cone accompanied her husband on both of his trips here. Her gentle and affable nature won golden opinions from all with whom she came in contact. Universal condolence was expressed for her in the awful bereavement which has come upon her in the morning of her wedded life.

A NATIVE NORTH CAROLINIAN.

Our Washington Letter. No. 7.

GENERAL BABCOCK.

Our able and energetic commissioner of public buildings and grounds, has published his annual report, which is full of interesting matter relating to the improvment of the public grounds. His improvement north and south of the White House are very fine, and constitute the most attractive part of the city.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Those who remember "Lincoln Chapel," during the war a hospital on Capitol Hill, will be pleased to learn that there has been a beautiful school house for colored children built upon its site.

In the last two years there has been two large school buildings erected in this city—the Franklin and Jefferson—the last named is just finished, and has 20 school rooms.

SENATOR CHANDLER

Left this city for Michigan on Saturday evening last week, and expects to speak every day until the election in that State.

THE DESPONDENCY OF THE COALITION.

The despondency of the Conservatives, or rather "Confederates," has commenced sooner than expected, and it is amusing to hear the different reasons that are assigned. Among the most prominent are the want of money and efficiency among those who are managing their campaign, even the New York Tribune is becoming uneasy, and has already sounded the notes of alarm; but it is too late; the enthusiasm they prey for is not in the hearts of the people, and it is there where the trouble exists. It is not the want of money, or efficiency among their managers, as they have plenty of both. It is is the people, who have made up their minds as to who and what party is to govern this country, and this conclusion is based upon a conviction as to what measures are best for the welfare of the country and protection of its varied interests. This is the secret; and were the American people controlled by any other influence than such as is produced by by principles, the idea of self-government would soon prostitute itself into the very worst form of anarchy.

THE FASHIONS FOR FALL AND WINTER.

Bonnets have a cape at the back, and many a well-defined brim in front. As a novelty cloth bonnets promise to be much in demand, also plush and the old-fashioned beaver.

For fall wraps we have the Talma and the Gilet, so fashionable last season. The sacque fits closely to the form, and the Talma is arranged to simulate a triple cape; the top one being slashsd at the back, half open sleeves.

For dresses, overskirts and polonaise are still used. Skirts are flounced to the waist at the back and to the knees in front with narrow bias ruffles; an apron front with ruffles simelates the pannier, and a basque completes the stylish dress. The greatest blessing for those who are their own dressmakers is the "national dress trimming," made by machinery in a manner that eclipse all hand work. It is in various widths, styles, and colors. The open sleeve is giving place to the tight coat sleeve for street, with gauntlet cuffs.

Furs are of the Russian sable, Labrador sable and ermine.

Bows for the neck and hair are of ribbond and lace with cripe de chine.

A fashion reporter andounces that the young man of the period is to be suggestively adorned with a leather cravat with a neat guilt buckle. Won't this have rather a Bow-wowery effect?

Respectfully, S. T. B.

A DRUG STORE WORTH SEEING!

To the Editor of the North Carolinian

During a recent visit to your little City I was among other things attracted by the new Drug Store of Dr. J. N. BUTT, No. 75 Road Street, and I cannot resist the impulse to ask your readers to call and see it, as it is not surpassed by any you will meet in the South, not in Baltimore will you find one more elegantly fitted up except its deficiency in gas lights which the Doctor hopes to supply soon. It is a two story brick building, 65 by 27 feet, with dwelling above. The lower story is divided into Dispensing Room, Office, Ware Room and Laboratory. The Store Room is very light. The front being entirely of plate glass, nine pieces 90 inches long, with two doors and one window, glass 56 x 90. The doors being double, shut one upon the other, and when open, as in summer, are folded back into a recess to the wall, making a straight line with the door and an elegant finish. The doors and flanges to the same being of plate glass, 90 inches long, does not impede the light open or shut. The floor is almost even with the pavement and is covered with a carpet of cocoa matting. There are two counters on either side, 12 feet long, beautifully white splendidly finished, and of good design with Italian marble tops. Their ends 8 feet from the doors, pass at right angle to the wall. On the right hand one is a Tennessee Marble Fountain, and on the other an Aquarium of Gold and other Fish. On either side between the door and counter, is a fine silver mounted walnut Show Case, 5 feet high, fastened to the wall, a beautiful and attractive ornamens to display Fancy Articles, and in the rear a Poison Case of the same kind. Three fine silver mounted and one plate glass Prescription Case, with scroll and clock on top, and one fine balance scale adorn the counters. There are over 120 drawers which make a fine display, they are of sweet gum varnished, which is the prettiest wood that could be used. The shelves are supported on iron brackets, at the terminus of which, 3 feet from the ceiling, is a snow white cornice, interlined with two istrips of gilt moulding. The wall and entire store is pure white except the drawers and when lighted presents a very imposing display

Last but not least, is the "little jewel" of an office, which is so much needed by every business man. The Doctor is doing, as he tells us, an extensive and lucrative office practice. It is fitted up in fine style, with every modern necessity, and examinations are made with as much privacy as in your own home. The Laboratory is not yet finished, but when done will be a very responsible part of the establishment. The Doctor keeps a large stock of goods pertaining to the Drug Trade.

HORNER'S MARYLAND

SUPER-PHOSPHATE.

(We conrt the Chemist's inqury.)

After 23 years' experience in the Fertilizing business, and after establishing a wide reputation for the purity and excellence of his Bone Dust, the subscriber has been induced to prepare a Phosphate suitable to the requirements and every way worthy the gttention of the Southern Farmer.

The "MARYLAND" it a juvinator and permanent improver of the soil. It stimulates equal to Peruvian Guano, and sustains equal to Bone, being composed almost entirely of these ingredients, with a very liberal per centage of Potash in the residum. There is no adulterator nor inferior article used—every particle of the Phosbhate being of essentiay benefit to the land. Neither pains nor expense have b een spared in its preparation, and we claim for it the greatest benefit to the farmer from the smallest outlay,

For Cotton, Wheat and Corn, and as a general stimulant and ailment for worn and impoverished land there can be nothing superior It is warranted to run as high in Ammonia and higher in Bone Phosphate than any other fertilizer in the market.

Price $50 per ton, in new bags. No charge for delivery.

BONE DUST $45, BONE MEAL $50, DISSOLVED BONE $42, our own manufacture, in new bogs; Eastern and Western BONE DUST $35. PERUVIAN GUANO delivered from Peruvian Government Warehouse at lowest rates. No charge for delivery.

THE GREAT SOUTHERN

TOBACCO SUSTAIN

AND LAND RENEWER.

The Sustain is a specific restorer of the exhausted properties of impoverished and over strained land, and will generously repay the cost of its outlay in the quality and quantity, of the Tobacco Crop, besides permonently improvinn the soil and raising it to its virgin standard.

It gives vigor to the young plant, promotes its rapid growth, and insures, in the matured crop a thickened, heavy leaf.

It is prepared similarly to the Maryland except that it contains much more potash and other Tobacco forming properties.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisements in this issue.

Great Industries.

Local and Personal.

☞ C. W. SMITH, Treasurer Land & Lumber Co., has gone North on a brief visit.

☞ Maj. WM. A. HEARNE has assumed editorial connection with the Raleigh Era.

☞ Among the arrivals by last boat are Mr. AMLY and wife, of New Bedford, Mass.

☞ J. W. BEASELY, of Colerain, N. C., has been appointed U. S. Gauger for the 1st District of North Carolina.

☞ Gov. CURTIN declines a nomination to Congress from the 18th Penna Distict. Reason—ill health.

☞ JOE JEFFERSON, the distinguished comedian has again been compelled to leave the stage on account of defective eye sight

☞ As we go to press we hear that our townsman Rev. W. W. KENNEDY has just met with an accident. No particulars.

☞ Our Washington Letter reached us last week aftes our paper had gone to press, which accounts for its non appearance in last week's issue.

☞ Still they come—Senator JOSHUA HILL of Georgia has come out for GRANT and WILSON. That's right—"Our invitation is to all"—come.

☞ CHAS. H. ROBINSON has gone to Washington on business. We understand he intends to take a little trip to the North before returning.

☞ Since young JOHN QUINCY refuses to support Dr. GREELEY, the Democratic papers say the Adams family is like the potatoe crop—the best part under ground.

☞ We are requested to announce that the cause of the absence of Dr. E. RANSOM from the Presidential Canvass, is the death of one of his children, and the severe illness of another.

☞ The "Alabama claims" has at last been settled. The Geneva Tribunal has awarded to the United States the sum of $15,500,000 in gold. That is better than going to war. "Let us have peace."

☞ Baltimore has had its "Black Friday" which resulted in the failure of five of its largest firms. Undue speculations operates sometimes on large fortunes like a June sunshine on a snow bank.

☞ The Carolina Eagle has recently changed hands. Messrs. ELLIS & PITTS retiring, and JOHN B. HUSSEY Esq., taking charge of the paper. The valedictory, and salutatory are found in the last number. May the Eagle continue to thrive under the new management.

☞ A scrap of paper was recently picked up on our streets, evidently dropped by some mourning Democratic Greeleyite, containing these sad lines:

When ere I think on what I are
And what I use to was,
I find I've throw'd myself away,
Without sufficient caus.

☞ The Chicago Times does up a local thusly:

"Dead as a door nail—Mr. Patterson's Liver does not take kindly to Bullets. The Perforated Thief's Soul Goes Out for an Airing."

The Local Editor evidently stood on his head when he wrote this.

☞ "The grass withereth and the flower thereof fadeth."

We regret to hear of the death of the infant child of C. W. GRANDY, JR., and also the youngest child of WM. GRIFFIN Esq., of this place. There seems to be a strange mortality among children this year throught the whole country.

☞ Private theatricals. Scene—a private parlor in E. City—Time, about 11 o'clock on a dark night when the lamp has gone under a cloud—Dramatis personæ, a young woman arrayed in smiles and a dolly varden, and a young man who looks as though his boots pinched him—colloquy (He) Darling the time has now come when my means will warrant my investing in that domestic luxury—a wife, and with $37,50 in my pocket I now come to claim thee as my own. Wilt thou love? (She) Yes dear anything to beat GRANT. [Her father is a GREELEY man—Ed.]

☞ P. B. DELANY, Telegraph Engineer, from Philadelphia, arrived in town by last night's boat from Norfolk, and called on us to-day. Mr. DELANY proposes to build a Telegraph Line from E. City to Norfolk provided a sufficient amount of stock can be raised among our people. Books of subscription will be at once opened at the office of the Steam Transportation Co., and subscriptions will also be taken by GEO. D. POOL, and at the NORTH CAROLINIAN Office. The Company will be formed on the joint stock plan. Shares $25,00 each. Let the people of E. City and vicinity at once take hold of this enterprize. We need a telegraph to connect us to the outside world. Business and personal interests demand it. It can be built if we try. Let us do it.

☞ The Reed House at Erie, Pa., together with its furniture was recently destroyed by fire. This was one of the finest buildings of the kind in that State and cost with its furniture $260,000. The building was insured for $150,000, and the furniture for $100,000.

☞ Greeleyites shaking hand in Baltimore. The "Washington veterans" in passing through Baltimore on their way the Soldier's Convention at Pittsburg, were attacked by a mob and the scenes of 1861 were reenacted. This little "shaking of hands" took place on the 15th inst.

☞ Black and white now mingle in the cotton field. There is some "cast" there likewise, but the thing is turned about. The white is now cast down by the black and trodden under his foot. When the white is weighed in the balance may it not be found wanting. [Patent applied for.]

☞ Most of our summer tourists have returned from Nag's Head, and we now meet many familiar faces on the streets that we have missed for several weeks. Shutters are being thrown open, and the sun light let into darkened houses, and the merry romp and laugh of children are heard where summer silence has pervaded.

☞ "The sound of axe, hammer, and other metal tools" is heard on the New Hotel building. In the line of beauty and neatness the new brick cornice defies competition, and the whole building, when completed, would adorn any town or city. Quite an army of men are at work thereon, and it is Mr. SMITH's intention to have it finshed by November.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A little Girl.—You are wrong—When you see a young man and woman standing on opposite sides of her father's gate, "bitting at each other," it is not a sign they are angry, or have the hydrophobia. We can't explain this to you now no how, because you are too young. When you are older you will "know how it is yourself."

Politician—You have been entirely misinformed. No Republican claims that Gen'l JOHN A. DIX wrote the dispatch, "Veni Vidi Vici." Those who are circulating this story, do it to injure GRANT, and his party. You will find a full statement of this in a work entitled, "What I Know About" Villains and Liars, by H. GREELEY.

Historicus—SIR WALTER RALEIGH discovered Roanoke Island after, and not before COLUMBUS discovered America. You are right, there was no hotel at Nag's Head when Raleigh landed. The city of Raleigh was named after SIR WALTER, and not SIR WALTER after the City.

Classic.—The words, "Et tu Brute," were spoken by a gentlemen named J. CESAR many yerrs ago in Rome. The history as we heard is as follows. CESAR was once asked, by his friend MARK ANTHONY, to dine with him. He replied, "MARK, I have been to dinner." "What did you have to eat?" asked MARK. "Boiled eggs," replied CESAR. "How many did you eat?" CESAR, becoming enraged at his friend's inquisitiveness, replied, "Et tu Brute." At this insult, MARK struck CESAR dead at the foot of Pompy's Pillar. (See history Rome.)

Poet.—The "Ode to Spring" to which you allude commences thus:

"The first bird of Spring
Attempted to sing,
But ere he had uttered a note,
He fell from the limb—
Ah! a dead bird was him,
The music had friz in his throat."

We think it quite sweet, likewise mournful.

Mathematician.—Your problem "From 2 take 6" has found its way into the wrong office. We figure more in addition than subtraction.

(Other letters stand over until next week.)

Fatal Shooting Affray.

Charleston, S. C., September 22.—A personal altercation occurred in a restaurant in Columbia last night, between Montgomery, president of the State Senate, and Samuel Melton, regular Republican candidate for Attorney General. In the melee John D. Caldwell and Major J. M. Morgan, two friends of Melton, who interfered to seperate the combatants, were shot. Caldwell was instantly killed Morgan slightly wounded. The verdict of the coronor's jury charges George Tupper, a friend of Montgomery, with the wilful and malicious shooting of Caldwell. The affair, owing to the social position of the participants, causes much excitement.

DEATHS.

BANKRUPTCY.

From this date, I expect to be generally in my office, where I shall give special attention to cases in Bankruptcy. Having once been a Register and being familiar with all the details of the practice, and residing in the same city with the U. S. Dist. Judge, I shall have peculiar facilities for obtaining speedy Discharges in Bankruptcy. An arrangement has been made, by which the costs in Bankrupt proceedings will be greatly reduced. In all ordinary cases, I think, one hundred and twenty-five dollars, possibly less, will pay all costs and Attorney's fees.

The Bankrupt Act, as recently amended, gives a homestead of one thousand dollars and a personal exemption of one thousand dollars. This is five hundred dollars more than the State exempts. Other advantages will be explained to those who may choose to consult me.

The patronage of the First Congressional District is respectfully solicited.

FOUTZ'S

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

National and Individual Loss in Poor Butter.

The loss to our national Treasury, and the loss sustained by the laboring classes who make poor butter, exceeds over $3,000,000 per annum. Our country is able to stand such a loss without any inconvenience; but the hard working yeomanry, who constitute the bone and sinew of our great Republic, cannot afford to lose such large sums of their hard-earned dollars, as they have hitherto been wont to lose by sending inferior butter to market. United numbers of butter-makers do actually render a quid pro quo—an equivalent—in service, for every dollar lost in poor butter, as just as much grass or other feed is requisite to produce the cream for a pound of poor butter as for a good article. Beside, this, just as much strength is required to milk the cows, take care of the cream, to do the churning and to pack the butter, when it is so poor that it will bring only eight cents per pound, as when it will readily command forty cents. The best butter will bring, we will suppose, forty cents per pound, while inferior grades are not wanted at twenty cents. Scores of Tons of poor butter have recently been sold in New York City markets, for ten to fourteen cents per pound, which would have brought twenty-five or thirty cents if the butter had been properly made. The milk and cream were all right for making the choicest quality of "Philadelphia Gilt Edged Butter;" but it was spoiled in making, just as many persons sometimes make bread which would be a match for the digestive apparatus of an alligator, ever when the best quality of flour has been provided. Hence, the person who makes five hundred pounds of butter for which he receives only fifteen cents per pound, but which would sell for thirty cents if it were made properly, actually earns one hundred dollars, but losses fifty of it simply because it was thought the butter would be "good enough for Yorkers." Thousands of butter-makers, by neglecting only a few of the minor details in butter-making, sacrifice half the cash value of their dairy products. They cherish the error that they will never receive pay for extra pains. Hence, their butter is of an inferior quality, and they are compelled to sell it at a low price.

How to Prevent Overreaching.

The usual remedy is to make the heel of the forward shoes from one to two inches longer than usual.

The philosophy of such long shoes is—so it is assumed—in stepping, the forward feet will be so nearly taken up before the hind feet approaches them that the toes of the hind feet will strike the under side of the forward shoes rather than come down on the upper side. With some horses this mode of shoeing will be found a satisfactory remedy for overreaching, while many other horses that raise their hind feet very high will catch the forward shoes and pull them off as fast as the shoer can set them. Indeed, the writer once owned a fleet traveler that would often plant a hind foot into the forward fetlock when her head was not checked up. The only effectual way of preventing the shoes being torn off her fore feet was to check up her head, so as to throw more of her weight on the hind feet. When she was beneath the saddle, and was not checked up, and was traveling on smoth ground, the hind feet would clip, clip, clip the forward shoes at almost every step. Then, where the way was somewhat soft, the shoes or the feet were sure to be caught unless her head was checked up high.

Preserving Fence Posts.

A writer in the Western Rural says: "Take boiled linseed oil and stir in pulverized charcoal to the consistency of paint. Put a coat of this over the timber, and there is not a man who will live long enough to see it rotten. I discovered many years ago that wood could be made to last longer than iron in the ground, but thought the process so simple and inexpensive that it was not worth while making any stir about it. I would as soon have poplar, basswood or quaking ash as any other kind of timber for fence posts. I have taken out passwood posts after having been set seven years, that were as sound when taking up as when first put into the ground. Time and weather seemed to have no effect on them. The posts can be prepared for less than two cents apiece." We believe that this is a good receipt, but one important omission is made, namely that the posts should be well seasoned before the oil and charcoal are applied.

Bigger Crops per Acre

It is not merely in the details of farming operations that we should aim to render our labor more effective—we must more than ever strive to get larger crops per acre. High wages will compell us to raise larger crops or not to raise any. It costs no more to plow and plant and cultivate an acre of potatoes that will yield 300 bushels than one that yields less than one hundred, and where there are many weeds little if any more to dig them. It may cost twelve cents a bushel to dig potatoes in the one case, and only four cents in the other. A field of wheat yielding less than ten bushels per acre, and so full of thistles that it is impossible to bind it, will cost more to harvest it than a clean crop yielding thirty-five bushels per acre. And the same principles holds good with all our crops.—Agriculturist.

An excellent Varnish for Harness.

Procure half a pound or a pound of gum-shellac, according to the quantity desired; break the scales fine, and put them in a jug or bottle, and good alcohol sufficient to cover the gum; cork tightly, and place where it will be kept warm. In about two days, if shaken frequently, the gum will be disolved and ready for use. If the liquid appears as thick as thin molasses, add more alcohol. To one quart of varnish add one ounce of good lampblack and an ounce of gum camphor. Such varnish will not render leather hard, but will keep the harness from becoming soaked with water, and the surface clean and neat for a long time. A coat of it will effecually prevent the oil in the leather from soiling one's hands. Nothing is better to render a farmer's boots water-proof, than an occasional coat of this leather varnish. —Home Journal.

Every family should provide a barrel or box for receiving chicken-bones, fish-bones, and bits of bones which accumulate in the kitchen. A hundred pounds may be saved in a few weeks. Such bones are valuable for grass land, and for burying around all kinds of fruit trees and grape-vines.

An Ohioan, who has three-fourths of an acre of quince orchard—from which last year he sold 800 bushels of first-class fruit—spades the ground in Spring and scatters a peck of coal ashes around each tree, also a quart of salt, and another quart when the quinces are about half grown.

Two men lately rode on horseback from Arkansas to Georgia just to see the country.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TO SPORTSMEN.—

The ubscriber wound announce to his friends and the public that he continues at the old stand on Road street and keeps on hand a good assortment of Guns, Rifles, Pistols Sporting apparatus and also a fine selection of cutlery. He may at all times be found either in his store prepared to accommodate customers with New Goods, or in his shop adjoining, willing and happy to repair any article in his line of business.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS

AGAINST

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

Loyal citizens of North Carolina and other Southern States, will be pleased to learn that Congress at the last session passed a law for a commission to be appointed to examine and report on all claims that may be presented to them for Quartermaster and Commissary stores furnished the Federal Army during the late war.

The undersigned are prepared to furnish blanks, and give all information to those having claims—and to prosecute the same to final settlement. Having received the endorsement for ability, &c., from the Hon. Senators Messrs. Pool and Abbott and the Representatives from North Carolina—we believe that we can give satisfaction to all who entrust their claims to us.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where: and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equel it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2.000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3.000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3.500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A Farm of 200 acres within one mile of Elizabeth City, with good two story dwelling, large barn and stables, and all necessary outhouses, orchard of fine fruit trees, and a large number of ornamental trees and shrubbery around dwelling. This farm is on one of the most public roads in the County—is in a high state of cultivation—has fine and durable fences, &c. Altogether, it is the richest land and most desirable location, anywhere in the neighborhood of the town. Price $6000—one-half cash, balance in easy payments.

PREPARED WHEAT

AND

SUGAR OF MILK.

Patented July 23d, 1872.

A FARINACEOUS FOOD FOR INVALIDS AND INFANTS.

By the peculiar process in which this preparation is made, all the flesh forming constituents—EARTHY and SALINE elements of the grain are retained, with none of the STARCH, all of which being converted into Dextrine. It contains all the Lime, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Iron and Manganese for the animal juices, and Gum and Fecula for respiration and fatty tissue, with the proteine compounds (Gluten, Albumen &c.) from which nerve and muscular tissues are formed.

It is believed by the most intelligent men that much of the suffering, sickness and mortality of mankind is traceable to deficient or faulty nutrition. The same cause may also be assigned the frequent disapointment of physicians in the result of the action of most approved remedies.

We feel sure that this article will supply the deficiency.

Sugar of Milk.

[LACTIN.]

Is a chrystalized sugar, obtained from the whey of cow's milk by evoporation. It is manufactured largely in Switzerland and the Bavarian Alps as an article of food and for medical purposes.

It has been used considerably in England as a non-nitrogenous article of diet in Consumption and other Pulmonary Diseases, and with excelent effect in extreme Irritability of the Stomach, (see Wood & Bache's Dispensatory.)

We manufacture 2 grades :—No. 1, in yellow wrapper, ground coarse, to be eaten as cracked wheat, with cream. No. 2, white wrapper, is ground into Flour for Puddings, Blanc-Mange and Bread.

DIRECTIONS.

For Making Mush with No. 1, Ground Coarce.—Mix four tablespoonfuls of the Wheat with a gill of cold water; rub into a smooth paste; then pour it into a pint of boiling water, stirring briskly, boil for 20 minutes.

To be eaten with rich cream.

For Puddings, &c. use No. 2, Ground Fine.—Mix a tablespoonful of the food with a small quantity of cold water rub to a smooth paste; add to one-half pint of boiling water, constantly stirring, and boil about 8 minutes over a moderate fire. Add milk and flavor to taste. For bread, use as ordinary flour.

PRICE 50 CENTS A POUND.

Our Platform.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention, in the City of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

First—During eleven years of supremacy, it has accepted, with grand courage, the solemn duties of the time. It surpressed a gigantic rebellion; emancipated four millions of slaves; decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage. Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political offenses, and warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily decreased with a firm hand the resultant disorders of a great war, and initiated a wise policy toward the Indians. The Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted, the public lands freely given to actual settlers. Immigration protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgement of the naturalized citizens' rights secured from European Powers. A uniform national currency has been provided, repudiation frowned down, the national credit sustained under most extraordinary burdens, and new bonds negotiated at low rates. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied. Despite the annual large reduced of rates of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during Gen. Grant's Presidency at the rate of one hundred million dollars a year. A great financial crisis has been avoided, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised and the honor and power of the nation kept in high respect throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future. We believe the people will not intrust the Government to any party or combination of men composed chiefly of those who have resisted every step of this beneficial progress.

Second—Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither the law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect of citizens by reason of race creed, color or previous condition of service.

Third—The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, no, merely tolerated because they are law, and should be caried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured those amendments.

Fourth—The National Government should seek to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

Fifth—Any system of the civil service under which the subordinate position of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system by laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage, and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a life tenure of office.

Sixth—We are opposed to further grants of the public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the national domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

Seventh—The annual revenues, after paying the current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal, and the revenue, except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties upon importations, the duties on which should be so adjusted as to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor, and promote the industries, growth and prosperity of the whole country.

Eighth—We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union; their pensions are the sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and greatful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the time of duty became disabled, without regard to the length of service or the cause of such discharge.

Ninth—The doctrine of Great Britain and other European Powers concerning allegiance—"Once a subject, always a subject"—having at last, through the efforts of the Republican Party been abandoned, and the American idea of the individual right to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with zealous care the right of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Government; and we urge the continual and careful encouragement and protection of voluntary immigration.

Tenth—The franking privilege ought to be abolished, and the way prepared for a speedy reduction in the rate of postage.

Eleventh—Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican Party recognize the duty of so shaping legislation as to secure full protection and the amplest field for capital and for labor, the creator of capital, the largest opportunities, and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

Twelfth—We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the surpression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions, and for the protection of the ballot-box, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the nation.

Thirteenth—We denounce repudiation of the public debt in any form or disguise as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of the debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption of specie payments.

Fourteenth—The Republican Party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom. Their admission to wider fields of usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

Fifteenth—We heartily approve the action of Congress in extending amnesty to those lately in rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

Sixteenth—The Republican Party propose to respect the rights reserved by the people to themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and the Federal Government. It disapproves of the resort to unconstutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Governments.

Seventeenth—It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

Eighteenth—We believe that the moiest patriotism, the earnest purpose, the sound judgment, the practical wisdom, the incorruptible integrity, and the illustrious services of Ulysses S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and, with him at our head, we start to-day upon a new march of victory.

What Horace Greeley Thinks of the Democratic Party.

EXTRACTS, RICH, RARE AND RACY.

Now that Mr. Greeley has become the leader of the Democracy, we present the following extracts from editorials of the New York Tribune, writen by Mr. Greeley during the forty years of his editorial life. They are refreshing, and will not nauseate Democrats who have lost all self-respect,—forsaken principle in their hunt for office,—and become first-class dirt-eaters. The extracts are as follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE DISEASE.

"Mr. Webster was not only a gentleman, but he had the elements of moral greatness; and he had his faults as well. He failed only in one respect; and in this respect I differ from him—he wanted to be President, and I don't.—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

OUR GREATEST MAN.

"We have seen our greatest man, Mr. Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early, and died of it at a very old age."—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

THE FATE OF GEN. CASS.

"Gen. Lewis Cass died at 82, and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one ever escapes who catches the disease: he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and an observer at an early age, I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the best of our public men, and have carefully avoided it."—Horace Greeley, in 1866.

THE GOOD SENSE OF GEN. GRANT.

"We, at least, in our day, have a President-elect who did not try to be President. He was elected mainly on that account."—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

THE ENEMY OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

"If the Democratic party were called upon to decide between Grant and myself, I know that their regard for what they must call principle would induce nine-tenths of them to vote against me. Why? I am a decided enemy of that party, even in its most respectable aspects."—Horace Greeley, in 1871.

PICTURES OF THE DEMOCRACY.

"Every one who chooses to live by pugilism or gambling or harlotry, with nearly every keeper of a tippling house, is politically a Democrat."—Horace Greeley.

IGNORANCE A DEMOCRATIC ALLY.

"If there were not a newspaper or a common school in the country, the Democratic party would be far stronger than it is."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC ESSENTIALS.

"The essential articles of the Democratic creed [are] 'love rum and hate niggers.' The less one learns and knows, the more certain he is to vote the regular ticket from A to izzard."—Horace Greeley.

WHO ARE DEMOCRATS.

"We thereupon asked our contemporary to state frankly whether the pugilists, blacklegs, thieves, burglars, keepers of dens of prostitution, etc., etc., * * * were not almost unanimously Democrats."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC VIRTUES.

"To smoke is a Democratic virtue; to chew is that virtue intensified; to drink rum is that virtue in the superlative."—Horace Greeley.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATS.

"Point wherever you please to an election district which you will pronounce morally rotten, given up in great part to debauchery and vice; where voters subsist mainly by keeping policy-offices, gambling houses, grog-shops and darker dens of infamy, and that district will be found at nearly or quite every election giving a majority for that which styles itself 'the Democratic party.' Take all the haunts of debauchery in the land, and you will find nine tenths of their master spirits active partisans of that same Democracy. What is the instinct, the sympathetic chord, which attaches them so uniformly to this party? Will you consider?"—Horace Greeley.

REBEL DEMOCRACY.

"The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South, with its Northern allies and sympathisers. It is rebel at the core to-day. It would come into power with the hate, the chagrin, the wrath, the mortification of ten bitter years to impel and guide its steps. It would devote itself to taking off or reducing tax after tax until the Treasury was deprived of the means of paying interest on the national debt, and would hail the tidings of national bankruptcy with unalloyed gladness and unconcealed exultation. Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our national sins, we must hope that this disgrace and humiliation will be spared us."—Horace Greely.

THE FEROCIOUS PROTECTIONIST."

"You only err as to the proper candidate. I am not the man you need. Your party is modestly Free Trade, and I am a ferocious Protectionist. I have no doubt that I might be nominated and elected by your help but it would place us all in a false position."—Horace Greeley to P. Donan, in 1871.

"THE BAYNOT LAW OF 1870"

"It is urged by the Democratic organs that the law is to be enforced in State and municipal elections. This is done to make it more obnoxions, if that be possible, to their party. But, unfortunately, this is an error. The law applies only to presidential and congressional election, though we heartily wish it could be made to apply to all others."—Horace Greeley.

THE KU KLUX LAW.

"I hold our Government bound by its duty of protecting our citizens in their fundamental rights, to pass and enforce laws for the extirpation of the execrable Ku Klux conspiricy; and, if it has not the power to do it, then I say our Government is no government, but a sham. I, therefore, on every proper occasion, advocated and justified the Ku Klux Act. I hold it especially desirable for the South; and, if it does not prove strong enough to effect its pourpose, I hope it will be made stronger and stronger."—Horace Greely in 1872!

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S LINEL SUCCESSOR.

"Many will be surprised at the President's hearty endorsement of civil service reform [in his message of 1870;] but he has been there all along. The President's summing up of the leading objects of his policy, and especially his desire to secure a pure and untrameled vote,' must appeal cogently to the judgement and affections of the American people. He is Abraham Lincoln's lineal successor; and the populor heart beats in unison with his administration and his efforts."—Horace Greeley in 1870
